

LAW INTELLIGENCE

THE SECOND SANFORD HALL CASE.

UTREME COURT—SPECIAL TERM—Nov. 11.—Before Judge DAYTON.

is the matter of the petition of James Russell Smith, detained as an alien at Sanford Hall, Boston, vs. L. E. Russell, et al. By agreement between the parties, the following charges were made by the Judge in deciding not to grant an order of arrest in the matter, said that he was sitting as an officer of the Court, and not as a Judge. He therefore had not the power to enter a reference to a commissioner of law to inquire into Mrs. Smith's sanity. The Judge then asked if the Court would permit counsel to see the lady.

Judge Dayton—Certainly.

Mrs. Russell said that he should like to see her, and would get an affidavit from her in relation to the mat-

And American girl, whose eye, as she spoke, was suddenly fixed on the far and hopeless future. It seemed as if she might be summoned to her depths of grief, to the very heart of the human experience, to a knowledge which the world will call slow, should it ever come painted and degraded to our pavements to spread moral and physical ruin around her footsteps. If we neglect these women in this hour of their utter helplessness, some of them will take fearful revenge in the coming years. You will not starve and prostitute leaving you to the mercy of the world to prosper or perish. You will be taxed to support them—taxed to punish them—taxed to bury them in our miserable Pottery Field—taxed in the health and sanctioned of your sons, who shall encounter them: these women who, if they had their human right of working for bread granted them would go to womanhood in health and grace, and by, leaving good instead of a fearful legacy.

We appeal to you to aid us in giving them this right; there is a large portion of our Western country where the labor of these women is wanted, and would be better paid for than it ever can be here even in the best prosperous times.

We desire to put it in their power to bring this, their commodity, to such a market. We find large numbers willing, and anxious to go, and believe that if we could only now render assistance could easily be brought into a like state.

Will you aid us, by your money, by your sympathy and helpful words, by donations of goods, fuel, and anything that will supply the wants of women of various creeds, from tenaciers to domestic, in doing this good work? We wish to commence it at once.

There are those among us who are willing to assume heavy burdens of labor, who will devote time, strength and means freely to it; but in addition to that, we want help of all sorts, wherewith to furnish a tempo-rary home as friendly than the streets or the haunts of pauper vice.

Give to us what you can of material aid and good words for our cause; and to those who need our help—the fearful, doubting, ignorant women to whom you may speak—give such counsel as will send them into our own or other hands that will be equally safe.

Donations of money will be received by Horace Greeley at THE TRIBUNE Office, and of money or light goods by Mrs. Phelps, south-west corner of Seventh-street and Irving place; Mrs. Beatty, No. 809 Broadway street; Miss Howland, No. 78 Tenth street. Those who will give us provisions, fuel, or other articles, will add to the favor of the gift by advising the Secretary, Miss Howland, of their intention to do so, or by reserving their donations until our House shall be established, which will be in a few days from this date, of which due notice will be given.

FATAL RESULT OF AN EXPOSITION—Information was received at the Coroner's office yesterday afternoon that Frederick Farland, a German, had died at Bellevue Hospital the previous evening. The deceased was admitted to the hospital on the 16th inst., suffering from extensive injuries caused by an explosion in a percussion cap manufactory on Eighth street, near Yorkville. One of his legs had been much injured that it was deemed necessary to amputate the limb, and Dr. James R. Wood performed the painful operation. The patient continued to fail gradually and died as stated. An inquest will be held on the body to-day, when further particulars of the occurrence will be obtained.

BROOKLYN ITEMS.

Ms. EMMA GILLINGHAM BOSTWICK. — Our readers of Brooklyn must not forget the far-ocel concert of this excellent vocalist at the Athenaeum, this evening, when she soon leaves us for her residence in Chicago.

DESCENT UPON THE DEN OF A GANG OF THIEVES.—The police of the Sixth District have been engaged for several days past in ferreting out the rendezvous of a gang of thieves who have been operating successfully for a long time past, and the result has been the recovery of a considerable quantity of stolen property. On Thursday night last, as Mr. Cass, Gulespie was driving light wagon, his vehicle was run into by a wagon driven by a young man named Majer, and Mr. Gillespie was considerably injured by being thrown to the pavement. Officer Bennett observing the occurrence, came up upon which young Majer ran away, leaving the horse and wagon behind. If the wagon was found, a number of hair cushions, chairs, a marble top table, and a quantity of carpeting, which it was subsequently ascertained had been stolen from the Dutch Reformed church near Brownsville. The following morning the horse was hitched to the wagon, and being taken to go where he would, the officers were conveyed to an old unoccupied building on the Harpeth Road, near the Penny Bridge. Here the officers discovered indications that persons were in the habit of frequenting the place, but no property was seen except a buggy wagon, secreted in the rear of the building. The same day, Sergeant Eggleston, with a party of men made a descent upon a house at the corner of Lottimer and Winners streets, occupied by an old lady named Koda Maner, and there found a variety of articles, such as remnants of goods, ladies' wearing apparel, currying, crocheting, quilts, and various other articles. The old woman had three sons residing there, two of whom she admitted had been engaged in committing robberies for nearly two years past. I was also ascertained from the residents in that vicinity that the brothers Maner had disposed of several thousand dollars' worth of property by auction. The property included, among other things, a large quantity of clothing, silver, china, and jewelry. The property had been taken from a church at the apostate town of Summer. This had been sold at auction to some of the neighbors for less than half its value. The buggy was painted dark green, and was made by the Newcomb Company, Stamford Conn. The three brothers have succeeded in making their escape.

DARKING BURGLES IN JAMAICA.—The house of J. Leek, exq., on Bowe avenue, was entered by burglars on Monday evening last, and gentlemen's and ladies' wearing apparel, silver plate, jewelry, &c., to the amount of between $500 and $600 were taken away. The burglar's graveled upon a window sill, and the door was left open. From some corner of the house that has transpired, it is supposed that the burglars are in a dragon, which they concealed in the woods while making up their ill gotten plunder.

NEW-JERSEY ITEMS.

LABORERS' STRIKE.—Some sixty men employed on the Concord Dock at Jersey City as coal-wheelers and light-labors, struck on Saturday for higher wages. The men's party have been paying their dues, and the demand is an increase to $1.25 per day. The Steamship Company, which employs the men, has refused to accede to their demand, and the coal wharves are closed. The men are employed at a rate that they are forced to reduce the wages of the stevedores. The strikers on Saturday requested a demonstration to be held in front and passed out a circular which stated that they are forced to reduce the wages of the stevedores. RELIGIOUS REVIVALS.—The religious revival at that revival of religion are in progress in many of the M. E.
churches in that city and vicinity, and meetings are held nightly, while the streets are crowded with penitents. At the Franklin Street Church, under the pastoral charge of the Rev. J. O.
Loggins, the work is progressing, and many have been converted.
In the East Newark, Bloomfield Orange and other churches, there is also much interest awakened.
